“Beyond the Broadcast”
with Chelsea Amber
This Wednesday, August 12 at 7:00pm
Laurentian Wesleyan Church

The Halifax, Nova Scotia band, "Beyond the Broadcast" along with artist Chelsea Amber will be live in concert this coming Wednesday, August 12 at 7:00pm at Laurentian Wesleyan Church (529 McKay Ave, just off Trout Lake Road). The band's desire is to point people to Jesus through their music, which is a modern pop/rock style. "Beyond the Broadcast" have opened for MercyMe, The City Harmonic, Jared Anderson and Leeland. Admission is "pay-what-you-can" at the door. Visit www.laurentianchurch.com for more information and to listen to their music.

BEYOND THE BROADCAST

- B I O -

Beyond the Broadcast desires to compose music about hope and love and of brokenness and redemption. Music that unveils the truth that we can experience a presence bigger and better than ourselves.

From Halifax, Nova Scotia, Canada, the band is comprised of Nathan Thompson (vocals, guitars), Matt Riendeau (guitars, keys), Aaron Rogers (bass), and Josiah Riendeau (drums).

Beyond the Broadcast believes that true change comes when people lay aside their personal agendas and encounter the true and living God. “We don’t want perform or entertain,” explains the band, “We want to join with real people to worship a real God. Our focus and aim is to point people to the one true God through Jesus Christ and see His glory displayed.”
