"BIG, BUSTLING AND UNREACHED"

This week I read an article from "Global Partners" (the Wesleyan Church's Missions Organization). The author was reflecting on a recent trip to Tokyo, Japan.

"In Japan, I was struck by how advanced the culture was in a number of ways – crime is extremely low, all the systems work, everything is neatly arranged and aesthetically appealing. While we may not vocalize the thought, many of us are accustomed to thinking of missions as something people from more advanced countries do in less advanced countries...We don't send missionaries because we're better than, richer than, or smarter than – we send missionaries as witnesses of the hope we have found in Jesus Christ." A powerful reminder as we endeavour to obey the command of Jesus found in Matthew 28:19; "Therefore go and make disciples of all nations."
